Opportunities and Challenges for Elections in 2018
In 2018, several new laws go into effect that create new opportunities for California Elections. While the new laws have the potential to expand the California electorate and to make voting more convenient, they also present some challenges to implementation. This panel brings together election officials and election reform advocates from throughout the state to discuss the implementation of these new laws.

- Kim Alexander, President and Founder, California Voter Foundation
- Gregory J. Diaz, Nevada County Clerk-Recorder/Registrar of Voters
- Joe Holland, County Clerk-Recorder-Assessor, Santa Barbara County
- Dean Logan, Registrar-Recorder/County Clerk, Los Angeles County
- Lori Shellenberger, Voting Rights Strategist
- Moderator: Sue Ranochak, Mendocino County Assessor Clerk-Recorder

11:10am – 12:20pm  Morning Sessions

A. New Frontiers in Language Access: How California Law is Expanding our Democracy in 2018
By enacting the California Voting for All Act, the strongest state-level law in the nation providing language access protections for limited-English speaking communities, and by expanding the language communities that are eligible for those protections, California is taking a huge step forward in creating an inclusive democracy in 2018. This panel will discuss changes to the law, how community organizations can educate communities on the new language access tools, and how voting rights advocates will work with elections officials to ensure a smooth implementation.
B. Remote Accessible Vote-by-Mail: A New Way for California Voters to Vote Privately and Independently Remote Accessible Vote-by-Mail provides a new way for voters with disabilities to vote privately and independently by mail. The panel will provide an overview of Remote Accessible Vote-by-Mail (RAVBM) from the perspective of a voter. Topics will include best practices for adoption, a live demonstration of RAVBM, and insight from elections offices that have already incorporated the technology into elections.
- Ardis Bayzen, Motivational Speaker, L.A. County Voting Accessibility Advisory Committee member
- Fred Nisen, Supervising Attorney for Voting Rights, Disability Rights California
- Jennifer Tagg, Elections Specialist, San Mateo County Registration and Elections Division
- Steve Trout, Elections Director, Elections Division, Oregon Secretary of State
- Moderator: Paul Spencer, Staff Attorney for Voting Rights, Disability Rights California

C. Census 2020: What’s at Stake for California and its Democracy
Census 2020 is quickly approaching, and a fair and accurate count of California’s diverse population is critical for the future of the state’s democracy and the well-being of all of the state’s residents. This panel will highlight the critical role the Census plays in reapportionment and redistricting, implications for equal representation of all Californians, and how Census data are used to provide civil rights and voting rights protections. Panelists will also address how civic and community organizations can prepare for Census 2020 outreach.
- Dr. John Dobard, Associate Director of Political Voice, Advancement Project California
- Rosalind Gold, Senior Director, Policy, Research and Advocacy, NALEO Educational Fund
- Daniel Kikuo Ichinose, M.A., Director, Demographic Research Project, Asian Americans Advancing Justice - Los Angeles
- Maria de la Luz Garcia, Director, Census 2020 Initiative, Mayor's Office of Budget and Innovation, Office of Mayor Eric Garcetti
- Moderator: Jacqueline Martinez Garcel, Chief Executive Officer, Latino Community Foundation
D. Campaigns, Candidates & Voters: Navigating the California DISCLOSE Act
The California DISCLOSE Act, passed in 2017, was designed to provide transparency on funding behind ballot measure and candidate advertising. The panel will explore the new law’s impact on campaigns and the public, discuss how it is likely to roll out, and offer an inside look at collaborations between clean money advocates and the government to work through complexities of implementation.

- Sandra Fluke, California State Director, Voices for Progress
- Stephen J. Kaufman, Principal Attorney, Kaufman Legal Group
- Emily Rusch, Executive Director, CALPIRG and CALPIRG Education Fund
- Phillip R. Ung, Director, Legislation and External Affairs, Fair Political Practices Commission
- Moderator: Dora Rose, Deputy Director, League of Women Voters of California

12:20pm – 1:00pm    Break (Foyer)
                     Lunch Provided

1:00pm – 1:30pm    Featured Speaker (Yosemite)
Kei Kawashima-Ginsberg, Ph.D., Director, The Center for Information & Research on Civic Learning and Engagement (CIRCLE)

1:30pm – 2:30pm    Workshop (Yosemite)
                     Democracy by Design: Ensuring Voter Intent in Our Communications
In this hands-on workshop led by Dana Chisnell, Co-Director of the Center for Civic Design, attendees will learn about the importance of design in the voting experience, specifically plain language, usability, and accessibility; gain insight into the most important changes in election design; and participate in a usability testing exercise.

2:40pm – 3:50pm    Afternoon Sessions

E. Engaging the Public and Underrepresented Communities in District Transitions Under the California Voting Rights Act (CVRA)
This panel will discuss the importance of public engagement as communities transition from at-large to single districts, under the California Voting Rights Act (CVRA), which prohibits using at-large voting systems that in some cases may disenfranchise racial minorities. This panel will provide a better understanding of the CVRA and practical tips for engaging the public and members of underrepresented communities in the transition.
F. Searching for Election Information: A Practical Overview of How Voters Acquire Election Information Online

The web is one of the most important sources for information if it can be found easily and quickly. This panel will discuss how voters acquire and consume information online and will provide low-cost methods for website improvement as well as real world examples of how other counties have approached website redesign.

- Maria Bianchi, Project Manager, Voting information Project, Democracy Works
- Aaron Nevarez, Governmental & Legislative Affairs Manager, Los Angeles County Registrar-Recorder/County Clerk
- Kurt Sampsel, Government Services Project Manager, Center for Technology and Civic Life
- Jen Tolentino, Director of Policy & Civic Technology, Rock the Vote
- Moderator: Michelle Bishop, Voting Rights Specialist, National Disability Rights Network

G. Successful Preregistration Strategies to Expand Youth Participation

California is one of the few states in the nation to allow 16- and 17-year-olds to pre-register to vote. Registering young people early presents an opportunity to build a strong commitment for civic participation and establish the seed for lifetime voters. This panel will discuss effective strategies for preregistering youth, identifying partners for effective implementation statewide, and best practices for engagement in high school classrooms.

- Mynor Godoy, Senior Field Organizer, Yvote, Movement Strategy Center
- Jesse Melgar, Deputy Secretary of State Chief Communications Officer, Office of the California Secretary of State
- Emily Rusch, Executive Director, CALPIRG and CALPIRG Education Fund
- Moderator: Rosalind Gold, Senior Director, Policy, Research and Advocacy, NALEO Educational Fund
Conditional Voter/Same Day Registration: Increasing Voter Opportunities to Register to Vote

California has more than 5.5 million unregistered voters, and ranked 48th in voter registration amongst states in 2016. Too often, this results in voters learning they cannot vote on Election Day because they are unregistered. This panel will explain how conditional voter registration, popularly known as same day registration, will roll out in 2018, how it can help increase participation, and how it can be more broadly available to voters in the future. Topics will include actual and perceived barriers to full implementation in California, best practices and impact, plans for educating voters, and why this new law could be a game changer for underrepresented voters in California.

- Neil Albrecht, Executive Director, City of Milwaukee Election Commission
- Neal Kelley, Registrar of Voters, Orange County
- Jamie Kennerk, Chair, Board of Directors - CALPIRG Students
- Moderator: Raul Macias, Voting Rights Attorney, ACLU of California

4:00pm – 5:10pm         Closing Plenary

Implementing the Voter’s Choice Act in California’s Diverse Communities

In 2018, Madera, Napa, Nevada, Sacramento, and San Mateo counties will be the pioneers implementing California’s new voting model, the Voter’s Choice Act (VCA). The VCA has the potential to increase voter participation by providing a longer voting period which includes the 10 days leading up to Election Day and providing voters increased options to return their ballots. The new law also offers opportunities for voters to engage in the planning of their elections, through advisory committees and participating at public hearings. However, implementation of a new way of voting requires significant preparation in the administration process and voter education and outreach. This panel will cover the opportunities and challenges of implementing a new voting system in California’s diverse communities.

- Gregory J. Diaz, Nevada County Clerk-Recorder/Registrar of Voters
- Jenny Ocon, Executive Director, UpValley Family Centers
- Dora Rose, Deputy Director, League of Women Voters of California
- James Schwab, Deputy Secretary of State, Policy and Planning
- Moderator: Astrid Ochoa, Executive Director, Future of California Elections

5:10pm – 6pm               Reception (Courtyard)
