VOTING IN JAIL

There are approximately 20,000 people detained in jail pre-trial in Illinois. Those who are citizens have the right to vote in elections. However, without a formal process in place, voting in jail is nearly impossible for pre-trial detainees.

This bill requires county jails and election authorities to collaborate in creating a process that ensures people who have not been convicted and are awaiting trial can cast their ballot during elections.

In any given year, there are approximately 30,000 people who return from prison, all of whom are citizens are eligible to vote in Illinois upon release. Yet many do not register to vote because they believe that their past criminal conviction disqualifies them.

This bill requires the Illinois Department of Corrections to provide eligible citizens released from their custody a voter registration application.

There are approximately 4 million people in Illinois who have a past criminal record, all of whom are eligible to vote in Illinois. Yet, many of these citizens are not aware of their right to vote.

This bill requires the Illinois Department of Corrections to provide citizens released from their custody detailed information about their voting rights.
